

This form is for applicants who are requested to undergo a medical examination as part of an application for an Australian visa. Forms 1071i Health requirement for permanent entry to Australia and 1163i Health requirement for temporary entry to Australia provide further information.

The Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department) is authorised to collect the personal information on this form under section 60 of the Migration Act 1958. When you complete this form and give it to the doctor or clinic, the Commonwealth of Australia becomes the owner of the personal information on the form. The doctor is required to send the form to the department.

Your responsibilities

You must truthfully disclose your medical history and details of any known medical conditions.

If outside Australia you must attend the same doctor during the course of your medical examinations.

Visa subclass and visa name

To assist the department to link your medical examinations with your visa application you must write the visa subclass number and the name of the visa you are applying for on page 6 of this form.

For example:

- Subclass 176 – Skilled – Sponsored
- Subclass 405 – Investor Retirement
- Subclass 679 – Sponsored Family Visitor
- Subclass 890 – Business Owner

This information is required for the visa decision-maker to process your visa application.

You can find the visa subclass number and the name of the visa on the department's website www.immi.gov.au/immigration.htm

Completing medical examinations before you lodge your visa application

In some circumstances, the department allows visa applicants to complete medical examinations before they lodge their visa application. The department's website provides information on where this is possible. For details see www.immi.gov.au/allforms/health-requirements

You must undertake the required medical examinations, as requested by the doctor.

Please be aware that if you do complete your medical examinations before lodging your visa application you may need to undertake additional medical examinations if:

- you later lodge a visa application for a different visa subclass;
- you decide to stay in Australia for a longer period;
- you do not complete all the required medical examinations; or
- your medical examinations expire prior to a decision being made on your visa application.

If you have not lodged a visa application and a significant health condition is identified which may impact on your ability to meet the health requirement you will not be provided with an opinion of the Medical Officer of the Commonwealth until after you lodge your visa application.

Costs

The costs of medical examinations are paid by you directly to the doctors or clinics undertaking the examinations. There may be additional costs if further tests or couriers are required.

Outside Australia

If you are an applicant for a visa under Australia's Offshore Refugee and Special Humanitarian Program the Australian Government will cover the costs of your medical examinations.

In Australia

If you are in Australia and you have applied for a protection visa, special arrangements may apply in regard to the costs of medical examinations.

How to make an appointment for your medical examination

Outside Australia

To undertake a medical examination outside Australia, please contact your closest Panel doctor. For details see www.immi.gov.au/contacts/panel-doctors/

In Australia

To undertake a medical examination in Australia you must contact the nearest Medibank Health Solutions office on 1300 361 046. You can make an online booking at www.medibankhealth.com.au

Note: If you are in Australia and you have applied for a protection visa, you must see a doctor at a Medibank Health Solutions city premises, not an Approved Medical Practitioner (AMP) in a regional area.

For women

Women should not attend this medical examination during menstruation as blood will taint the urinalysis.

What to bring to the examination

- Any prescription spectacles or contact lenses that you may wear.
- Where you have a known medical condition, any existing specialist reports.

Identification

A valid passport is the mandatory identification document.

However, in circumstances such as:

- you are unable to obtain a passport without a visa due to laws in your country of origin;
- your passport is at the department for processing of your visa application;
- your passport is at the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) or the International Organization for Migration (IOM) for processing in relation to a refugee application or other Australian visa;
- you are unable to obtain a passport due to political or other circumstances in your country of origin; or
- your passport is not suitable for identification purposes (eg. passport photograph is of a baby and with passage of time the photograph is no longer satisfactory);

the following may be acceptable:

- a verified copy of the front page of the passport endorsed by the Australian Consulate or Embassy;
- national identity document (incorporating a photograph, name, date of birth and signature);
- alternative identification documents – other identification documentation requested by the department or the department's contracted service provider.

If you do not bring acceptable identification documentation to the medical examination the processing of your visa application may be delayed.

Note: If you are a refugee, humanitarian or protection visa applicant special arrangements regarding identification may apply.

What tests may be required

Permanent visas

All applicants for permanent visas to Australia 15 or more years of age are required to undergo Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) testing. Applicants for permanent visas under 15 years of age must also undergo HIV testing if they are being adopted, have a history of blood transfusions, or have other clinical indications.

Note: These requirements also apply to applicants applying for a provisional visa that has a permanent visa pathway.

Temporary visas

Applicants for temporary visas to Australia are not normally required to undergo HIV testing except for certain groups, as advised in the department's Procedures Advice Manual, or if the doctor decides it is indicated.

Doctors, dentists, nurses and paramedics

Applicants for temporary visas intending to work as (or studying to be) a doctor, dentist, nurse or paramedic are required to undergo a chest x-ray and medical examination as well as HIV, Hepatitis B and C testing.

Overseas applicants

If a blood sample is required for Hepatitis B, C and/or HIV testing and the doctor does not have the facilities for taking blood, it will be necessary for you to attend a laboratory approved for this purpose.

What happens after the health examination?

You may be required to undergo further tests. The reports will be sent to the department by the doctor. However, if the doctor gives you the envelope containing the report please do not open the envelope. Contact your case officer to determine where to send the medical results.

Note: If envelopes or reports are tampered with you may be required to repeat tests at your own expense.

Medical information

Medical information such as a chest x-ray is used to assess an applicant's standard of health. After a decision has been made on the visa application it is usual for the department to retain the medical information. The medical information is retained by the department for use when assessing the applicant's health in the future and for panel doctor audits to ensure the quality of work undertaken by the panel doctor network.

Immunisation

Visa applicants are encouraged to be immunised against infectious diseases before travelling to Australia. Visa applicants who are unable to arrange their immunisation before departure from their home country are encouraged to seek advice on arrival in Australia. The Australian state and territory health authorities assist people to obtain general medical help and advice, including immunisation.

Parents are strongly encouraged to have their children immunised against hepatitis B, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), poliomyelitis, haemophilus influenzae type-b (Hib), pneumococcal and meningococcal infections, mumps, measles, rubella and varicella (chickenpox). Babies between the ages of 2 and 8 months of age (only) are also encouraged to be immunised against rotavirus.

Parents should bring any immunisation records for their children with them to Australia.

Rubella vaccinations are strongly encouraged for women of child-bearing age.

About the information you give

The department is authorised to collect information on this form under the Migration Act 1958. The information provided on this form, including tests for HIV, will be used to assess your health for an Australian visa. Your result(s) may be disclosed to the relevant Commonwealth, state and territory health agencies, settlement services providers and examining doctor(s).

The information provided might also be disclosed to agencies who are authorised to receive information relating to adoption, border control, business skills, citizenship, education, health assessment, health insurance, health services, law enforcement, payment of pensions and benefits, taxation, superannuation, review of decisions, child protection and registration of migration agents.

The department is authorised under the Migration Act, in certain circumstances, to collect a range of personal identifiers including a facial image, fingerprints and a signature, from non-citizens, including from visa applicants. The department requires personal identifiers to assist in assessing your identity. The department is authorised to disclose your personal identifiers and information relating to your name and other relevant biographical data to a number of agencies including law enforcement and health agencies and to other agencies which may need to check your identity with this department. Where the department obtains personal identifiers they will become part of your official record with the department.

The department is involved in international information exchanges with a number of countries, including the United Kingdom, the United States of America, Canada and New Zealand. These international information exchanges may involve the sharing of personal identifiers, including facial images and fingerprint data, collected by immigration agencies such as this department. If, as a result of this sharing between countries, there is a match with your personal identifiers, the department will disclose your biographical data, copies of travel and other identity documents or information from such documents, your immigration status and immigration history (which may include any immigration abuse and offences) and any criminal history information relevant to immigration purposes. The purpose of such disclosure would be to help confirm your identity and determine if you have presented to the department and the other agency under the same identity and with similar claims.

If you are making an offshore humanitarian or protection visa application, the department will only disclose this information if none of these countries is a country of claimed persecution and only if the department is reasonably satisfied that this information will not be disclosed to your country of claimed persecution.

For more detailed information you should read forms 993i Safeguarding your personal information and 1243i Your personal identifying information, which are available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/ or from any office of the department or Australian mission overseas.
